GLEANERS' LAWN FETE

A Pretty Outdoor Event on Castle Premises.

SALES IN BOOTHS NET A TIDY SUM

The Grounds and Booths Were Artistically Decorated With Flags and Ferns.

Never has a day in May been so pleasantly spent by the Gleaners' Society as was Saturday last, on the beautiful premises of W. R. Castle, on Kinau street, rich in their carpets of green, rolling lawns and luxuriant foliage of trees, which gave ample shade. The lawn party was as pastoral as the most critical could have wished for, and there, for more than three hours, the people spread out over the grounds and gave themselves up to the pleasures of the outdoor scenes, made so attractive by the ladies of the society, and in listening to the music of the Hawaiian band, which gave its services to the society for the afternoon.

Chief among the pretty decorations were a number of Hawaiian and American flags suspended from the boughs of the trees and placed in positions where they appeared to the best advantage. The patriotic colors were draped and intertwined harmoniously and proved a very effective part of the decorations. The booths were prettily arranged and composed mostly of the materials which the lavish tropical climate produces on every hand.

Placed here and there upon the lawns and beneath the trees, draped prettily with festoons of island vines and flowers, the premises were converted into a bower of beauty which appealed to the artistic nature of the throngs who attended. The ladies of the society displayed charming taste in this respect.

The gates were thrown open at 2:30 and until 6 o'clock the grounds were well filled with buyers and pleasure seekers. The sale of articles displayed in the various booths did not take place until 3, but the short period of three hours sufficed to reap in a golden harvest and the lawn party closed with more money in the coffers than at any previous affair undertaken by the Gleaners.

Everything that would appeal to the taste of a large attendance of people was on sale. The Hawaiian curios which are always a source of attraction to the mainland were particularly sought after, while the candy, refreshment, peanut, soda water and fancy work booths were not overlooked when it came to spending money. There were besides several booths which were distinctly novel. These were the heart booth, where nothing was offered for sale unless it was heart-shaped, the Menu Card booth, refreshment, peanut, soda water and fancy work booths were not overlooked when it came to spending money.

Mrs. H. H. Williams had general charge of the event and displayed much executive ability throughout. As in past years, it is due to her efforts that the Gleaners have always met with so much success at their annual lawn parties, and that of Saturday far exceeded all previous ones. Mrs. Williams was assisted by a large number of ladies, whose intense interest in the function and its attendant large receipts made it both a financial and social success.

Mrs. Theo. Richards presided over the fancy work booth, assisted by Mrs. A. T. Brock, Mrs. G. W. King and Miss Kathryn Widdfield. This booth seemed a loadstone, and the pretty articles were attractively displayed.

Refreshment booth was presided over by Mrs. C. B. Damon, Mrs. H. A. Parmalee, Mrs. Saxton, Mrs. Bowles and Mrs. Williams. A corps of pretty young girls assisted as waitresses. There were four for each table, and it was a strategic passer-by who escaped being served with the delectable of cakes, ice cream and other tempting edibles.

Mrs. Philip Frear had charge of the pretty Hawaiian curio booth, assisted by Mrs. Ralph, Mrs. Pettus and Mrs. Whitney. At this booth none but Hawaiian-made fancy work and curios were for sale.

Mrs. Belle Jones presided over the menu card booth.

The heart booth, which was one of the novelties in the way of new sale booths, was looked after by Miss Beatrice Castle, who had for her assistants Miss Violet Damon and Miss Helen Wilder.

The small boys patronized the peanut booth with a vim, and many were the nickels taken in there by Miss Irene Fisher, Miss Belle Ashley and Miss Marguerite Peterson.

The Arctic-like soda water and other cool drinks, at the soda water stand, were sold by Mrs. Vida Thrum, Miss Kate Kelley and Miss Leo Martin.

Sweetmeats were bought with an avidity which demonstrated that most of the visitors had a candy-tooth, and a snug sum was realized from the sale of candies and other sweet things. This booth was looked after by Mrs. Charles Atherton, Mrs. D. H. Case and Mrs. W. O. Atwater.

Dr. Moore and Dr. Hutchinson amused the small boys by loading guns and allowing them to shoot at targets at 10 cents per shot. The price did not deter the youngsters from emptying their pockets of dimes and nickels. Miss Ella Snow looked after the entrance admissions.

remission of tonnage dues on British shipping in American ports that are enjoyed by a number of other countries, including even some of the British dependencies, such as the West India Islands. German shipping is in a like position with that of British shipping because the German government imposes, not lighthouse dues, but another class of treasury dues, which our government has held to be of a character to prevent Germany from claiming the benefits of the law of 1886.

U J Ordway in Manila.
The programme at the Alhambra Theater this week is one deserving of special mention. The acrobatic work of the Filipino Company is marvelous. Professor U. J. Ordway, the Banjo King, is one of the finest on the American stage. His rendition of operas on a coal oil can and selections on bottles are something that lovers of music should not miss.—Manila Times.

Funeral of Late Mrs. T. S. Douglas Yesterday Afternoon.

The funeral of the late Mrs. T. S. Douglas, wife of T. S. Douglas of Irwin & Co., took place yesterday afternoon from the Roman Catholic Church at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Douglas died several weeks ago in California, and her remains were brought to Honolulu by the Mariposa Friday evening.

A large number of friends attended the funeral services and there were many beautiful floral tributes. Nearly all the employees from Irwin & Co.'s office were present, and a number of them acted as pall-bearers. The interment took place in the Catholic Cemetery on King street.
